The iphorms App is tailored to members specifications and requirements and can be designed to ensure all required fields are covered with consistent and up to date data. The risk of errors and omissions is mitigated. The “Clocking in” function of the App also has a disclaimer section were men must “tick” a series of boxes stating their equipment and themselves are fit and ready for a days work. The recording of the date , time and precise location of where a man was “clocking in” or out is a massive cost saving benefit as the men are paid to the very second they have worked.
